DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because fig. 4 contains shading. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Lo (6,493,880). Lo discloses elastic headwear comprising: a head-covering portion being stretchable in at least a circumferential direction thereof having a plurality of pieces (col. 3, line 67 and col. 4, lines 1-4), at least one piece being made of a stretchable knitted mesh which comprises at least one non-covered stretch yarn and a plurality of non-stretch yarns (col.5, lines 5-11); and a sweatband (25) being stretchable in at least a circumferential direction thereof (Col. 5, lines 16-17), wherein the non-covered stretch yarn and the plurality of non-stretch yarns are provided in rows without being twisted with each other.

The most important characteristic of the head covering is the ability to be stretchable in the circumferential direction. Lo discloses a weft knitted mesh (col. 5, lines 6-7) and that the head covering portion be stretchable in the circumferential direction (col. 4, lines 1-4). Warp and weft knitted meshes can both be used to produce a head-covering portion that is stretchable in the circumferential direction with no observable differences in the meshes. Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a warp knitted mesh to produce the head covering portions that are stretchable in the circumferential direction as disclosed by Lo since warp and weft knitted meshes result in no observable differences in the meshes.
